

ET – German Business Development & Marketing role – 9 to 12 months – Paid

Start Date: November 2013

Duration: 9 to 12 Months

The Host Company

The host company is pleased to offer this exciting position to students seeking to gain a credible and unique experience within a small scientific and engineering based business environment. With its core research and business activities focussed predominately in the UK, the host company wants to expand into the German speaking markets and as such will create a new German company, initially located from its UK headquarters and web based. However as business is generated, a German based office will be set up and operating 'live' within Germany it is hoped by autumn 2014.

The Role

The role entails the successful applicant to help with and be a key member in the creation of the 'DE' website which entails searching and purchasing suitable domain names, analysing German websites from the relevant business area for the correct lexical content, writing web pages, speaking with customers and visiting the German speaking countries with the company's technical manager in order to engage within business development activities

This position would suit a gap year or post-grad student looking to getting their first taste of the English speaking business environment.

The ideal applicant

- Native German speakers with a good command of English (C1 / B2)
- Have studied / currently studying either a business, marketing, engineering degree course.
- Prepared to locate to the UK for a period of up to 12 months (pending contract discussions)

In return the successful post holder will receive

- A contract lasting 9 to 12 months (subject to discussion)
- A monthly salary of GB£400
- Accommodation (a shared occupancy house within 5 miles of the company address in a country location)
- Support with their English language development from a 'CELTA' qualified teacher in order for them to sit IELTS 8 / 9 (www.ielts.org) or Cambridge CPE exams if they desire.
- Interviews will initially be held over skype. Then after the successful applicant will then be offered an expenses paid for flight to visit the company before potentially accepting the position.

To apply, register at www.ispo.co.uk